CHANG SENDS ASSASSINS TO KILL WU PEI-FU PEKING HEARS

Three Armed Men, On Ruse, Get Into Yamen

ALL EXECUTED

North China Star Learns Of Fengtien Plot

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 21.—The North China Star says that three men came to General Wu Pei-fu's yamen three days ago and asked to see General Wu on urgent business, stating that they came from the Ministry of War. This statement obtained a hearing for them but when General Wu was approached he said he was too busy and despatched his adjutant to see the visitors.

The adjutant knew something of the affairs of the Ministry and proceeding to question them soon saw that the men knew nothing about the Ministry. This aroused the adjutant's suspicion and making an excuse he left the room. He sent back a group of armed soldiers with orders to search the men. A revolver was found upon each man.

Later they were induced to confess that they had been despatched by General Chang Tso-lin, who had also sent 500 men armed with revolvers who were skilful in the use of that weapon inside the Great Wall to make attempts on the lives of important men of General Wu's party. Men had been posted at Hankow, Poyang, Peking and Tientsin.

The three men were executed.

CHANG IN TIRADE AGAINST BRITISH RAILROAD POLICY

Threatens To Telegraph "Emperor," And Hints At Boycott

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 21.—The Peking and Tientsin Times has published a translation of a speech made by General Chang Tso-lin delivered at a reception of the representatives of British and American firms at Mukden on August 12 in which he felicitates himself on the harmony which has prevailed in Manchuria during the past ten years. He says that his object in the Chihli-Fengtien clash was reunification. He did his best to protect foreign lives and property.

In this connection he instances the withdrawal from the Kaiping area. He continues in this strain at length, attempting to justify his action regarding the railways, salt and the seizure of aeroplanes. In connection with the latter he charges the British with un-neutral action and generally asserts that the British favored General Wu Pei-fu against himself, after which he threatens to telegraph to their Emperor and to ask whether British diplomacy towards Manchuria had been determined by the British Government.

He goes on "the British action is a matter I cannot endure" and says that he wished to preserve the friendship of other days. He adds that "if the populace becomes exasperated I will do my best to repress them, but if the British continue to oppress me beyond endurance it may be more than I am able to do." It will not be easy to prevent the millions of people in Manchuria planning a boycott, the evils of which he goes on to explain.

Continuing he says "If you continue to treat me with contempt I will no longer be responsible for protecting you. If the people of Manchuria are all of one mind they will compel the British of Manchuria to change their former attitude of contempt. The physical force of several millions of people will combine and enter into the struggle."

It appears that Mr. F. E. Wilkinson, the British Consul General, gave some sort of answer to this tirade but it is not likely that any other notice will be taken of it.

DOG DAYS STUFF

By Westa

THERE were floods in Hongkew last night—floods of sake flowing down Japanese throats in celebration of the Meejee victory.

With seven bustless innings under his obi it began to look like a no hit game for Watanabe, but in the eighth Thatch dropped a short one in right and Hopkins drove one at the pitcher that was too hot to handle. In the ninth Scotty connected for a solid smack to center.

That made a total of three hits for us, and not many ball games are won on three hits.

In the meantime the visitors were collecting a total of fifteen blows off John Scott, considering which fact we were lucky to hold them to five runs. They seemed to have Scotty's number yesterday.

Maskee, Scotty, ol' timer! They can't all be good days. The tail end St. Louis Browns went to Washington one autumn day in 1911, when Walter Johnson had lost only three games all summer, and nicked him for seven hits and as many runs after two were out in the first inning.

One reason the Shanghai team doesn't win more games against good pitching is that too many of the players kick the bucket, which is baseball Latin for stepping away from the ball. In one inning yesterday, by actual count, five of seven balls struck at sailed past the ends of Shanghai bats, due solely to the fact that the batsmen stepped away from the plate as they swung. If these batters had stepped into the ball they might have connected.

The weak hitters on the team should study Harry Kingman's batting style. If they will watch him they will notcie that in his forward lunge toward the ball he steps directly toward the pitcher with his right foot.

A great many of the fans were sorry that Cy Wilhoit found it necessary to knock the Japanese catcher end over appetite in Sunday's abbreviated contest. The runner, of course, is entitled to the line, but there is nothing in the rule that authorises the runner to run into an opposing fielder with sufficient force to send him sprawling twenty feet or more. In the time he played here Cy won an enviable reputation for himself as a clean, gentlemanly player, which was all the more reason for the surprise in the minds of all except the hopeless Japanophobes that he should have seemed so vicious. Whatever the diplomatic or military policies of the Tokio statesmen that have made the name of their country anathema to other peoples, these lads in Meiji uniforms are not in the least responsible, and for that reason they should be met in a spirit of sportsmanship and fair play, rather than with the idea that mayhem is permissible, seeing that they are merely "Japs." Cy doubtless did not mean to hurt the catcher, but if he didn't he could at least have walked back to that player, who sat dazed on the ground, doubled up with pain, and told him so. Hardened professionals in the big leagues at home have done as much under less aggravating circumstances. Far be it from us to say anything unfair about Cy, whom we greatly admire both on and off the field, and if he thinks the above is in the least unjustified he is welcome to all the space he wants in this column for a rebuttal.

Honorable Japanese baseball reporter who sat in press coop yesterday explained that every Japanese name, like every little movement in the song of a few years ago, had a meaning of its own. The names of the Meejees and their separate meanings follow: Uneida (catcher) "lone tree." Inaba (third baseman and captain) "a Japanese shrine." Kihara (first baseman) "wooden belly." Tanizawa (shortstop) "a field of seeds." Daimon (left fielder) "a big river." Hayashi (second baseman) "apparently fast." Tateya (center fielder) "a builder."

Those are the meanings of their individual names. Jawn Scott will

JAPANESE PLAN ORGANISATION OF MINE SYNDICATE

Will Work Shantung Properties Conjointly With Chinese

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 16.—Prominent business men of Tokio and other cities were invited to a conference yesterday afternoon by Count Uchida, Minister for Foreign Affairs, to discuss the organisation of the Japanese syndicate for the control of the Shantung mines conjointly with Chinese business men in accordance with the Shantung Agreement.

"The plan for the joint control of the mines," said the Foreign Minister, "is that China offers the Chinliehchen and two other mines, while Japan provides the required capital of $5,000,000. Negotiations are now proceeding between the Chinese and Japanese representatives concerning the details of the joint control which will come into effect upon the organisation of the Sino-Japanese syndicate. The Government does not propose to interfere with the plan of organisation, but would like the promoters to bear in mind that the object of the enterprise is Sino-Japanese economic development."

Speaking on behalf of the business interests, Dr. Takuma Dan, of the Mitsui Company, promised the authorities to report on a concrete plan of organisation later.

The Government was represented at the conference by (besides the Foreign Minister) the Vice-Foreign Minister, the Chief of the Asiatic Affairs Bureau and other officials. Among the business men present were Mr. Isomura of the Hokkaido Colliery Co., Mr. Kimura of the Mitsubishi, Mr. Kadono of the Okura Firm, Mr. Wada of the Fuji Gas Co., Mr. Hori of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, Mr. Kuhara of the Kuhara Mining Co., Mr. Ishizuka of the Oriental Development Co., Mr. Kaneko of the Suzuki Firm and Mr. Hayakawa of the South Manchuria Railway Company.

Peking, August 21.—The sixteenth meeting of the First Section of the Sino-Japanese Commission took place today.

After a detailed statement by Dr. Akiyama on the conditions of trade at the three mines along the railway the Japanese delegates presented contracts relating to the mines.

The Chinese delegates submitted names for the sub-committee in preparation for taking over all properties other than railway properties.

REPUBLICANS EXPRESS HOPE SENATE TARIFF BILL WILL DIE

Duties Enormously Increased In Upper House

IN CONFERENCE

Law, If Passed, Will Cost People Three Billions

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 21.—Advices from Washington state that the revised draft of the Tariff Bill which recently passed the Senate by 48 votes to 25 will be sent to a conference of both Houses.

The bill as it now stands is almost a complete revision of the bill which emerged from the House of Representatives. The amendments number over 2,000, of which a great majority represent a substantial increase over the rates passed by the House of Representatives, notably in the case of basic commodities such as wool, cotton sugar, steel and chemicals.

Government experts' calculations show the following ad valorem rates:—Cotton manufactures 54 percent. Silk manufactures 59 percent. Wool manufactures 75 percent, Glassware 44 percent, Refined Sugar 68.5 per cent. These represent staggering increases over the Underwood Tariff.

It is computed that the duties, if they ever fully operate, will mean an additional cost to American consumers of about $3,000,000,000 but it is more than doubtful whether the Bill will reach the President for signature before the November elections. Many Republicans privately hope that the Bill will quietly die in Conference, in any case if the Conference discussion is protracted beyond November 1 it is safe to predict that this will happen.

(China Press Service)

Washington, August 20.—President Harding has sent a letter to Senator McCumber, chairman of the Senate finance committee, not only urging a flexible tariff but asserting that the Tariff Commission be made the agency for investigating recommendations for changes in tariff rates to meet changing world conditions.

Washington, August 20.—The Senate has eliminated from the Administration Tariff bill the provision under which some manufacturers would be allowed to import vegetable oil duty free.

MOTORLESS AERO IN AIR TWO HOURS, RISES 600 FEET

German's Machine Is Described As "Air Yacht"

(Reuter's Service)

London, Aug. 21.—The epoch making character of the flights of motorless aeroplanes or sailplanes in the Rhoen Hills in Germany is clearly shown by the details received from Herr Hentzen, a young enginering student who accomplished his two hours flight in a single deck sailplane, the largest machine at the meeting, and competing for a prize of 100,000 marks offered by the German aeroplane industry.

He cruised in all directions at a height of 600 feet for an hour and three quarters, passing the starting point repeatedly. He then flew over six miles in a straight line, making a perfect landing.

Another pilot flew over an hour.

These machines may be described as air yachts and are designed to utilise the wind for ascending and descending, and for advancing with or against the wind.

Herr Hentzen subsequently declared that a longer flight was not now a matter of a machine but of nerve on which a great strain was put.

Red Cross In Quandary Over Disposal Of $6,000 Fund For Swatow Victims

Fund Raised Here For Typhoon Sufferers Being Held Pending Instructions From South—Chinese Urge New Import Tax To Aid Sufferers

With the turning over to the American Red Cross China Central Committee of the sum of $602 realised through the benefit at the Del Monte Cafe last Thursday, the total amount of the Swatow Relief Fund, including pledges, collected by the American Red Cross now stands at slightly over $6,000.

Although repeated cable messages have been directed, via Hongkong, to Swatow asking for instructions as to the character of relief wanted, no reply has as yet been received and the American Red Cross committee is in a quandry. Another urgent message calling for advice on the subject was sent off yesterday.

In addition to the collection of funds the American and Chinese Red Cross have secured the names of a number of doctors and nurses willing to go to the scene of the disaster if needed. No report has yet been received from the first contingent, consisting of ten doctors and nurses, who left for Swatow via Hongkong over a week ago.

ASK CUSTOMS SURTAX

The suggestion that a one per cent import duty be placed on goods at Swatow by the Government and that the returns be handed to the Swatow Red Cross Committee was telegraphed to Peking yesterday by the Committee of the Chinese Red Cross Society here. In case such fund should give indications of being insufficient to meet the relief work, it is further suggested that the surtax be extended to other ports in the vicinity. The text of the telegram follows:

"The recent typhoon has produced a disasterous effect in Swatow where thousands of lives have been lost, hundreds of houses blown down, and millions of dollars worth of goods and properties wrecked. Over 3,000 have been drowned. Tens of thousands of people have been made homeless.

"This was the severest storm ever happening in the history of Swatow. Immediate relief is urgently needed but the wreck has been too vast for the Committee to cope with and in spite of the work of the members of the Committee, very little has been realised. The Central Government has always been in sympathy with the people in their suffering. According to the increase of tax on goods imported for the Northern Famine Relief, please instruct the General Inspector in Chief to begin with Swatow by an increase of 1 percent on goods imported to that port and the funds so collected will enable the Committee in Swatow to cope with the heavy task of giving immediate relief to the sufferers there, for which act the refugees in Swatow will ever pray.

"The Central Committee of the Chinese Red Cross."

LETTERS TELL OF WRECK

Letters from Swatow continue to bring reports of the terrible swath of death and destruction cut by the typhoon which struck the city on August 2.

"The destruction down here is simply awful," states a writer to the National Committee of the Y.M.C.A. "I think that there cannot be less than fifty thousand lives lost in all the coast towns. The property loss cannot be estimated. Swatow itself, with all its better average in buildings, has suffered greatly and the loss of life here must have been near 5,000, while in village after village along the coast where there were large populations, large numbers have been crushed or drowned—one village being reported to have only

AMERICAN SCHOOL ENLARGES STAFF FOR FALL TERM

Ten New Teachers Engaged; Look For Biggest Year

A full staff of teachers will be ready to begin work on the opening day of the fall term of the Shanghai American School. The staff for this next year will number twelve men and fifteen women. Eight new teachers from America are now on the Pacific and will arrive in Shanghai very soon. The first arrivals are expected next week.

The new teachers from America are: Miss Helen A. Erk, Miss Cary E. Saunders and Miss Flora M. Boyce to teach in the grades; Mr. Orrin Main, Mr. Leland Edmunds and Mr. James L. McCord to teach in the High School; Miss Frieda Frommel and Miss Louise Macklin to teach music.

Two of these new teachers were born in China and have just finished their college work in America. Mr. Orrin Main, the son of Mr. W. A. Main of the Associated Mission Treasurers, is a graduate of Yale. Miss Louise Macklin, daughter of Mr. W. E. Macklin of Nanking, has just graduated from Oberlin.

In addition to the eight teachers coming from America Mr. W. A. Flewelling, who taught in the Tsingtau Academy last year, and Mr. Richard Touche have been elected to the staff. Mr. Touche will teach French.

The primary school in the French Concession will open with Mrs. Grace Sawyer in charge. She will probably be assisted by Miss Erk.

With a complete staff ready, to begin work on the opening day, the school is looking forward to the best year in its history.

WU PEI-FU WIRES FULL ACCEPTANCE OF DR. SUN'S MANIFESTO

Message Of Chihli Chieftain Approves Views Upon Parliament's Convocation And Endorses Proposal For Self-Government Of Districts And Conversion Of Troops Into Battalions Of Laborers

LI SHU TAKES LETTER TO PRESIDENT

Three More Delegations Come To Confer With Doctor Sun, One From Tuchun Of Kiangsu, Second From Lu Yung-hsiang, And Third From Dr. Wang Chung-hui, Acting Premier

Complete acceptance and approval of the manifesto that Dr. Sun Yat-sen issued last Wednesday is given by Gen. Wu Pei-fu in a telegram received here yesterday from the Chihli chieftain by the delegates who are representing him here. The message was addressed to Gen. Sun Yueh who presented the information it contained to Dr. Sun yesterday.

In accepting Doctor Sun's manifesto General Wu endorses the convocation of the old parliament on the basis that it shall be permitted to function free from all external influences. In his message General Wu also endorses specifically other lines of policy laid down by Doctor Sun as essential in this manifesto. In particular the Chihli leader pledges himself to support the project advocated by Doctor Sun for establishment of local self-government, or self-government of districts as opposed to the feudal system of provincial autonomy through which tuchuns are supreme.

LETTER TO PRESIDENT

The method of disbanding troops and of providing for them after they are disbanded, advocated by Doctor Sun in his manifesto, which sets forth the general scheme of transforming soldiers into labor battalions, is another point which General Wu Pei-fu endorses and pledges himself to support.

Li Shu, kinsman of President Li Yuan-hung, who headed the delegation representing President Li, left last night for Nanking on his way back to Peking. He took with him a cordial letter to the President from Doctor Sun. In this Doctor Sun expressed his complete willingness to tender any advice that may be asked and to render any assistance in dealing with the present political situation. It was not disclosed whether Doctor Sun made any statement in his communication to the President regarding the latter's invitation to Doctor Sun to come to Peking.

A number of important additional delegations arrived here yesterday to meet with Doctor Sun and called upon him yesterday. Among these were delegates from Nanking representing Tuchun Chi Hsih-yuan of Kiangsu and delegates from Hangchow representing Lu Yung-hsiang who abolished his post of tuchun recently to establish a form of civil government of which he was elected executive.

THIRD DELEGATION

Another delegation that arrived from Peking represents Dr. Wang Chung-hui, the acting Premier. Conferences with all of these representatives are being arranged by Doctor Sun and will be held in the course of the coming week.

Accepting a suggestion that Doctor Sun offered last week when he advised those members of parliament who have been remaining in Shanghai since they came north from Canton to proceed to Peking and resume their duties, a number of legislators left yesterday for the Capital and others are making arrangements to go.

Representatives of 27 local Chinese labor organisations offered their formal greetings to Dr. Sun Yat-sen yesterday morning at his home on Rue Moliere.

The delegates from the local bodies waited on the Southern statesman in the reception room of the Sun residence and without ceremony Doctor Sun appeared in his blue gown and with smiling countenance. It was he who spoke first. He expressed gratification over the reception accorded to him by Shanghai labor organisations and he said he regretted that he has been unable to meet the representatives individually and more often.

Doctor Sun expressed the hope that those present and their constituents would assert their rights as citizens of the Republic and watch every movement of the Government so that their rights might not be encroached upon.

Tsai Tung-yu, representative of the delegation, responded on behalf of the visitors and pledged their support to the Constitutionalist cause.

Following the response, Dr. Sun withdrew and Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Mr. Hsu Su-chung and Pan Chi-ming assisted in entertaining the visitors.

MADISON HERE WITH U. S. MAIL THIS AFTERNOON

Admiral Line Steamer Due To Dock At Two O'clock

The steamer President Madison of the Admiral Line, carrying 1,371 sacks of mail for this port and a full list of passengers, is due to arrive here at 2 p.m. today, docking at the China Merchants' Central Wharf. The President Madison will sail for Hongkong at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Two other trans-Pacific liners are due from America this week. They are the Taiyo Maru of the T. K. K. arriving from San Francisco on Thursday, and the Empress of Asia of Canadian Pacific, due from Vancouver late Friday or early Saturday morning.

Three big liners will sail for America shortly. The President Lincoln of Pacific Mail, sailing for San Francisco on Saturday, and the President Jefferson, for Seattle on Sunday.

The Empress of Australia, the newest addition to the Canadian Pacific fleet, which was due to sail for Vancouver next Saturday, has been delayed two days at Hongkong and will not sail from Woosung till next Monday, August 28.

The steamer Nanking of China Mail sailed from the China Merchants' Lower Wharf early this morning, and is due in San Francisco by way of Yokohama and Honolulu on September 11.

Peking Pressmen Pay High Tribute To Northcliffe

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 21.—The entire Chinese membership of the International Press Association in Peking has made a request to Reuter to cable to London expressing the profound grief and sense of loss which all Chinese journalists have experienced through the death of Lord Northcliffe, who rendered to China and the Chinese people such inestimable services, both during and since his recent visit to the Far East.

They hope that his widow and family will accept their deepest sympathy at the loss of a great friend.

Anxiety Felt For Safety Of Fliers

tell you that their collective name yesterday was "hitting hounds."

The little third sacker, Inaba, is a fine fielding player. He makes his catches with the greatest ease, handling high, twisting flies as though they were popups.

Diany Doyle had a number of close ones yesterday, but his decisions met with the general approval of the multitude. In the eighth the Shanghai players ran toward their bench after a play at first on which they all seemed to think an out had been made, and had to return to their stations when Diany called the runner safe. There were a few yelps over that one, especially from the always hostile sailors.

Uneida, the Meejee catcher, made the swellest grab of a foul fly off Hopkins' bat yesterday that probably ever was seen in Shanghai. He ran clear back to the grandstand, colliding with it and falling in a heap after squeezing the ball. But he held on to the pill, much to the disgust of the Shanghai skipper, who didn't think the catcher had a chance in the world to get under the ball.

In the sixth inning yesterday, with Nybegawa on first and Hayashi at bat Shanghai pulled a very usual double play. Hayashi hit a hot one at Cy Wilson it, who was playing close in, and Cy picking the ball up cleanly, shot it to Kingman before the runner got there. Harry then shot the ball to Bills at second, getting it there before Nybegawa could reach the bag. It was fast work on the part of the three Shanghai players.

Some of the Japanese baiters in the grandstand yelped because some Japanese photographers were back of the first base line, trying to get some pictures, and bothering nobody.

The Japanese fans applauded nearly every good Shanghai play, whereas the Shanghai stands applauded the good Meejee plays scarcely at all, even Uneida drawing only a moderate amount of hand clapping when he made his marvelous catch of Hoppy's foul fly. Shanghai was outplayed both on the field and in the stands yesterday.

In the seventh, after an alleged streak of wildness on the part of Watanabe which filled the bases with two out, Insurance Smith had a chance for a clean-up. But he wasn't quite equal to the occasion, although he tried hard. That was our best chance.

In the fifth Kihara slammed a triple into the crowd in left, but was caught at the plate a moment later on a beautiful return, by Holliday, of a hot grounder from Tanigawa's bat. Walter's peg was low, straight, and right into Smith's hands. Walter's day was a sort of mixture of good and bad. He made some nice grabs, and also, sad to relate, he let a couple get away from him. One of these, however, was a foul that was too deep, and which should have been handled by Sammy Woods.

The outfielders, for some strange and unaccountable reason, insisted upon playing just a few steps back of the infielders, and the fact that the Japanese batters hit over their heads on two or three costly occasions were circumstances that seemed utterly without significance to them. Sammy Woods lost two that he could have got had he been a little further back, and Hoppy lost one, and almost lost another. True, Cy got a man at first by playing close in, but on the day's results the losses far outweighed the gains. There may have been some good reason for playing close, but it certainly was not apparent to those of the fans who sat in the vicinity of the press coop, who kept commenting about it all during the game.

This three way series of games certainly has put a lot of extra work on President McIntyre, Secretary Smith, and Manager Gallop. There is an endless amount of bookkeeping and accounting necessary after each game, and the fans certainly are under deep obligations to this trio for the way they are giving of their time and effort to insure the success of the games.

RAIL MANAGERS TO VOTE ON PLAN TO STOP STRIKE

Seniority Question Is Still Big Stumbling Block

(Reuter's Service)

New York, August 21.—One hundred and forty eight members of the Railway Executives' Association will meet here on Wednesday to vote on the mediating committee's proposals for ending the strike. The proposals hinge on the question of the men's retention of seniority rights. The strike will unquestionably be ended if the executives approve the proposals.

(China Press Service)

Washington, August 21.—President Harding, referring to Herrin, Ills., massacre of non-union mine strikers, which he described as a "crime that shocked and horrified the whole country," said that both Congress and the nation were determined to use the full power of the government to maintain transportation, and to protect the men who are willing to work.

He said the striking miners and railway men had failed to observe the laws, and that "the state of lawlessness created by them was abhorrent to all right-thinking men as being a menace to the foundations of the American government."

He said that no group of men, whether the limited number responsible for railroad management, or the large number constituting the employes would be allowed to interfere with railroad operation, or to follow a course which interferes with the public welfare.

ACCUSED WOMAN DENIES CHARGES AT MOORE TRIAL

Mrs. Swinehart Dramatically Tells Unhappy Story of Her Married Life

Hearing was resumed yesterday in the United States Court for China of the trial of Mr. P. B. Moore, commission broker with offices at 15 Nanking Road, who is charged with adultery with Mrs. Harriet Howard Swinehart. In opening the defense Mr. F. J. Schuhl, attorney for the defendant, characterised the entire action as a frame-up the underlying purpose of which, he said, was to obtain the sum of G. $4,600 which Mrs. Swinehart's husband, complainant in the case, alleged is due him.

Chief interest in the resumption of the case centered around the testimony of Mrs. Swinehart, who took the stand in Moore's defense yesterday morning and was still on the witness stand under cross-examination by U. S. District Attorney Leonard G. Husar when court adjourned at 1 o'clock. The case will be resumed and Mrs. Swinehart's cross-examination concluded this morning at 9:30 o'clock and it is thought that the trial will end by noon.

MRS. SWINEHART ON STAND

Mrs. Swinehart, under questioning by Mr. Schuhl, testified that she had married Mr. Dudley E. Swinehart on Thanksgiving Day, 1918, just before Swinehart got out of the army, at Kalamazoo, Michigan. Four months later, she said, they went to Peru, where they lived a year, and then back to California, where they lived until they came to China.

Mr. Husar objected to the line of questioning, but Mr. Schuhl contended that it was important because he would show by it that Mr. Swinehart had been trying continually to get rid of Mrs. Swinehart. During these travels, Mrs. Swinehart continued after Judge Lobingier had upheld Mr. Schuhl. Mr. Swinehart kept her in tears. They had continual disagreements over household expenses, she said, because while he was not stingy he didn't realise the necessity of household expenses. She also quarreled with him, she testified, because he gambled so much at Tia Juana, Mexico.

Mrs. Swinehart described her first meeting with Moore at a boarding house on Range Road, and during the month they lived there she and Mr. Swinehart, Moore and Mrs. Dadisman had gone out to sukiyaki several times and all became friendly.

Contradicting the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Alford, Mrs. Swinehart denied that her husband was forced to eat breakfast alone while she paid particular attention to Moore, and also accounted for afternoons she was supposed to have been out with Moore by explaining that she had taught English at the Y.W.C.A. several afternoons a week and had merely left the house at the same time as Moore after tiffin.

Questioned by Mr. Schuhl Mrs. Swinehart gave a number of instances in which she asserted she had been mistreated by Mr. Swinehart because of his ungovernable temper.

"His favorite method of abuse was to quarrel with me about household expenses after we got to bed," she testified, "and then kick me out of bed. In South America we had many all night sessions of abuse. After we had moved to the Ben building he became angry one night and kicked me out of the bed. I got back in and he kicked me out the second time, tore my engagement and wedding rings off my fingers, and then knocked me down. Because I protested he shoved me out in the hall with only my underclothing on, finally allowing me to get dressed and leave the place with 13 cents in my pocket."

BREAKS DOWN AND CRIES

Mrs. Swinehart broke down and cried as she testified of the alleged mistreatment and her answers were often choked by her sobbing. District Attorney Husar took occasion to explain to the court that he had a full amount of sympathy with Mrs. Swinehart, but, he said, turning to Moore, "Don't let that sympathy be expended on Mr. Moore, the defendant. It has nothing to do with this charge."

Mr. Schuhl jumped to his feet saying that it was material because he would show by it that the entire case was nothing but a frameup engineered by Swinehart.

Mrs. Swinehart then continued testifying that after she had left she had gone to the Kalee, Palace and Oriental Hotels, but had not been able to secure a room. She finally stopped at the Great Eastern but was unable to pay her bill because Swinehart had withdrawn their joint account in the American-Oriental Bank, she said. He then attached the $4,600 gold she had, and for which he is now suing Mrs. Swinehart and Mr. Moore, and left her penniless. Since that time, she said, she had been living at the Bickerton.

Swinehart first mentioned divorce, she said, after their quarrel about $100 she had lost in a banking transaction, and in consequence of which he had left her because she had first told Moore of the loss, and not come to him. At that time, she said, he had gone to some friends to stay despite the fact that he knew she disliked them very much.

Again answering Mr. Schuhl Mrs. Swinehart denied that she had gone out with Moore night after night, as Mr. and Mrs. Alford had testified for the prosecution.

"I was out with Mr. Moore only four times," Mrs. Swinehart testified. Once we went together to Dr. and Mrs. Irons, twice we went to the Auto Show with Mr. and Mrs. Bickel and Mr. and Mrs. Yates, and once I went with him when Mr. Swinehart refused to go with us because he wanted Chinese chow."

Questioned as to money she loaned Mr. Moore she testified that Moore had borrowed money on two or three occasions, but always through her husband. The money had been repaid, she said, and Mr. Moore had also paid his board bill in full. Witnesses for the prosecution, including Mr. Swinehart, had previously testified that she had loaned Moore money and that Swinehart had practically supported Moore.

"Once Mr. Swinehart told her he would make her name mud," she said, and boasted that he had thrown her and Moore together for a purpose, bring out one of the points on which the defense alleges a frame up. Another time, she said, he had hit her in the eye with a piece of fudge and given her a black eye. She denied being surprised in Moore's bedroom at the French Concession house, an incident testified to by Mr. Swinehart.

STORY OF THE RAID

Concerning the raid on the Bickerton when Mr. Swinehart asserted he had found Moore and his wife in room 31, Mrs. Swinehart testified that she had telephoned to Moore to come to her room so they could go over the plans for their undergarment business. For an hour or so they had worked on the plans, she said, and then had tea. Then they worked on some loggin figures, a deal in which Mr. Moore was then engaged.

"About 6:30 o'clock I was sitting in the easy chair in front of the fireplace," Mrs. Swinehart said, "Mr. Moore had excused himself and gone into the bathroom when I heard a noise outside the door. Thinking it was Mr. Swinehart I slipped the latch. Before that the door had been unlocked."

ALLEGES FRAMEUP

"Then Mr. Swinehart broke the door in. Just then Mr. Moore came out of the bath. The man with Mr. Swinehart (Mr. Brown) grabbed Mr. Moore, and tore his trousers. He and Mr. Swinehart then ripped Mr. Moore's coat off, and then they yelled for the 'boys' to come. When they came they said 'Look, boy, at this man half-undressed.' Mr. Moore said 'And look at the bed too, boy.' Mr. Brown then went over and messed the bed up. Before we had all our undergarment plans arranged on it in order."

Other witnesses for the defense included Dr. Hugo Friedlander, who made a medical examination of Mrs. Swinehart the night of the alleged incident, a house coolie from the Bickerton, and Mr. Mark Tegetmier, 41 Seymour Road, who lived with the Swinehartes for some time. All gave evidence upholding the defense. Mr. Schuhl also introduced a letter from the French Fathers at Siccawei certifying that the sun had set at 6:31 o'clock on that day (April 23), a point for the defense on the question of the amount of light in the room at the time.

U. S. Marshal Porter Is Defendant In Case Before Court

Mandamus Action To Compel Execution Of Replevin Writ Argued

Mandamus proceedings filed by Judge Cornell S. Franklin for Dodge and Seymour, Limited, to compel execution of a writ of replevin against the Shanghai Taxi Company for ten motor cars was argued yesterday afternoon in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier. Decision was reserved.

The writ of repleving for the ten motor cars was issued on June 16 last by the clerk of the U. S. Court for China but execution of the writ was halted when Maj. C. P. Holcomb, attorney for Mr. Harry S. Jaynes who is receiver for the Shanghai Taxi Company, obtained an injunction forbidding execution of the writ of replevin from U. S. Commissioner N. E. Lurton. The mandamus action then was brought by Dodge and Seymour.

In connection with the hearing yesterday Major Holcomb asked Judge Lobingier to confirm the appointment of Mr. Jaynes as receiver for the Shanghai Taxi Company.

BAKU FAIR

(Russia News Agency)

Moscow, Aug. 11.—The Baku Fair (on the Caspian Sea), which will be opened in September, has aroused great interest in Transcaucasian, Persian and Turkestan circles. The Fair Committee has been receiving many inquiries from British and German commercial firms desiring to buy raw materials.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefully and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

Red Cross In Quandary Over Disposal Of $6,000

a few tens of people out of ten thousand."

A letter received by the National Committee from Mr. A. F. Groesbeck at Chaoyanghsien, just south of Swatow, states:

"The loss of property and life has been very heavy indeed. The estimates of loss of life vary from 10,000 to 50,000. The truth lies somewhere between. Whole villages have been absolutely wiped from the face of the earth. No such calamity has ever visited the place heretofore and we hope that another will never come."

CHAOYANG HARD HIT

Following is another letter from Chaoyang, written to a Chinese here and turned over to the Red Cross.

"On the 10th day of the 6th moon, the catastrophe took place. It was extremely hot and sultry. The sky was overhanging with heavy clouds. A strong Northwesterly wind was blowing. A torrent came down between 8 and 12. Innumerable trees were uprooted and buildings crumbled. Among the latter were the second gate of the Magistrate's Yamen, the Tax Bureau, the Gendarme's Headquarters, the Educational Bureau, the Forestry Bureau, the Courts, the prison ward, the Overseas Labor Association and the Literary Society. Four prisoners were crushed to death by the falling roof. Several others escaped from the cells.

"At 2 in the following morning, a southerly gale began. The Chaoyang Wharf was wrecked. More buildings tumbled down. More than 20 were killed. The flood inundated the entire city later and corpses of human beings, cows, pigs and fowls were seen everywhere. The air was foul with the smell of putrifying bodies. The death toll within the city is placed at over 10,000. There is yet no estimate made of the property loss.

"Swatow also suffered terribly at the same time. The wires were down. The electric plants collapsed. The city was thrown into darkness. The waterworks were damaged. No drinking water was obtainable. Even the small creeks were littered with corpses. Every picul of water costs 60 or 70 cents. All means of communications were suspended. The philantropic societies were kept busy in burying the bodies. No coffin could be obtained and sacks and mats were used to wrap the bodies. The city wall here has been damaged but the people within the city suffered very little. My home and yours were lucky enough to escape the storm as we were centrally located."

A father writes to his son here—the letter being turned over to the Red Cross:

"At 10 o'clock on the night of the 10th of this moon, a typhoon struck Chaochow and Swatow, the worst in 200 years. Swatow alone suffered several millions of dollars in damage and over 2,000 in dead. Within the prefecture of 10 cities the entire number of dead is placed at 50,000 and the property loss at $20,000,000."

WORST IN HISTORY

(China Press Service)

Kaying, August 13.—Reports that are coming in from Swatow and other districts near here indicate that the typhoon of August 2-3 was the most severe that ever visited this part of China.

The Chinese here declare that never in all the history has there been such a storm. Trees that have stood for centuries were ripped up and tossed about like pieces of paper. At one city near Swatow about 80 people were celebrating a birthday when the place was suddenly hit by the storm. Not one person escaped from the whole party. They were caught under the falling building and either crushed by the walls or were drowned by the great tidal wave, which evidently swept the whole Swatow delta for many miles.

Practically all the native boats were lost at Chouchufu and 500 unemployed boatmen are begging for food.

Stories are told of a woman being picked up by the wind and carried for 2 Phu Lu (about 6 miles) and there set down unharmed. It is said that the heavy iron roof of the Jardine building at Swatow was carried away by the wind for several hundred feet and thrust through the walls of a Chinese house. The wells have been spoiled in many places by salt water and the price of fresh water is very high. Great difficulty is being experienced in burying the dead.

Many foreigners at Swatow and Kakchieh had miraculous escapes from the storm. The writer does not know of any foreigners that lost their lives.

FOREIGNER NEAR DEATH

Mr. John Bjelke, an American missionary who was spending the summer at Kakchieh which is situated on a rocky hillside across from Swatow tells of his experiences.

He said "You have probably heard that we had a typhoon here. It was awful but all of us are safe and sound. We were living at the Water's house (on the American Baptist Foreign Mission Compound) and the children were all in bed. We had a brisk breeze but about 9 or 10 o'clock it got wild. Then about 11:30 it got terrific. I dozed a little but was brought to my senses by a series of terrific crashes. We hustled the children downstairs into the living room and I closed up everthing as tight as I could but the wind tore off shutters, broke locks in the doors, pulled out the bolts and blew the glass out of the windows.

"Then all tiles and timbers were ripped off the porch on the east side of the house and holes were blown in the roof letting in driving rain. On the west side of the house everything was all right and we waited down in the living room until 2 a.m. when the storm abated.

SHIFTS TO SOUTH

"Thinking it was all over we took the children upstairs and finding the north west bed room quite dry we put them to bed, but the typhoon started again from the South this time, and more terrific than ever. We hustled the children downstairs but the living room door blew open so we made for the dining room and none too soon. We were able to close the double doors and as they were fitted with three bolts on top and three on the bottom, these doors fortunately held.

"Then for two solid hours we sat there in terror. I thought there was no hope for us. More of the roof came off, all the tiles, and many timbers of the porch blew off, more glass crashed; so all we could do was to wait and pray. Finally when daylight came things calmed down a bit and what a sight was presented to our eyes. book, curtains, furniture, beds, everything was soaked. The ceilings poured water, plaster fell off, windows blown off. It was an awful mess.

"Outside trees were twisted and broken. Everything was flat. Every building suffered. One Chinese house near the seminary went down killing six people. Went to Swatow yesterday (the day after the storm) and it was awful there. The bund at Kakchieh is ruined. Walls down and washed out. At Swatow the water was six to seven feet deep all over the streets. Roofs are down and houses broken. Boats of all description are piled up everywhere. They are carting the dead away all the time. I was told yesterday that the loss of life over there is estimated at 4,000 people. A foreigner counted 250 bodies in one temple alone. They have not yet begun to clear up the debric yet, so no one can tell how many really lost their lives.

"Two steamers, they say, are sunk near Double Island and one is aground up the bay."

Another missionary from Chaoyang down the bay from Swatow describes her experience as follows. There was a crashing and ripping outside, tiles were falling, but the thing we'll remember the most vividly I think, will be the whistling, shrieking, yelling wind; a ghastly noise as of human beings in agony.

"Part of the roof too loose and though we worked as fast as possible it was impossible to get anything out of the room dry, the water was dripping down from all over the ceiling and running in sheets down the walls. Then came a lull and we thought the worst was over so we walked around to see how much damage was done. Then suddenly without warning came a terrific blast from an entirely different direction—due South. We jumped to hold the doors on that side.

"Then came the worst of all—the tidal wave. There was a pounding at our door upstairs and in burst people from downstairs saying 'The sea coming in downstairs, hear the waves and feel them beating against the walls'. (The house stands 50 feet from the seashore) The waves ripped up the lower veranda in no time not leaving a single board in place and taking out most of the beams, they burst in the basement doors, and went past clear up on the bank 100 feet back of the house. The spray of the waves went over the upstairs veranda, filled the wells and shook the house from top to bottom. All this time it was pitch dark except for one lantern and a flashlight."

In a nearby chapel three large junks were found to have been carried in by the tidal wave of the storm and had nearly completely wrecked the chapel. Several lives were lost in this building. Probably it will never be very accurately known how many lives were lost because many of the deaths were caused at sea side villages and upon junks that were caught in the cruel frothing wind and sea. The loss to business and missionary property is probably very great.

Kuomingtang Split Over Sun's Views

A split has taken place between members of the Kuomingtang over the views of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, expressed in his recent declarations, according to information obtained from politicians who are close to the Southern leader.

The two manifestoes issued by Doctor Sun Yat-sen on the political situation following his arrival in Shanghai favor the amalgamation of different interests in order to unify the country and bring peace to the mass. This view is generally endorsed by the Chinese as well as their foreign friends who understand the present conditions.

However different are the views of the members of the Kuomingtang, which is composed of varied and extreme opinions. Some adverse criticism has already been advanced by the members on the manifestoes, contending that the position Sun takes is not correct. These Kuomingtang advocates propose to obstruct the Constitutional movement being carried out by the former provisional president, it is understood, and are planning to address certain formal demands on him.

Doubt has been expressed by supporters of Sun as to the propriety of the position taken by these members in view of the present political crisis. It is contended that after the endless struggle between factions for private interests for the last eleven years, the people of China are sick of warfare, while the friendly powers are intolerant over the disrupt situation. Should the Kuomingtang adherents persist in being partial to their particular interests and ignore the views of others, it is feared that the chaotic condition will remain as before, while the Kuomingtang men will be blamed for prolonging it.

NAME ARBITRATOR TO SETTLE STRIKE OF SEAMEN HERE

Prospects Brighten For End Of China Merchants' Tieup

Colonel Li Tseng-wu, a director of the Ningpo Association and a member of the Kuomingtang party, has been authorised by both the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., and the Seamen's Union to arbitrate in the local seamen's strike, which is now confined to steamships of the China Merchants'—all others having agreed to yield to the terms of the strikers.

Colonel Li will begin his parleying with both parties today, it is understood and prospects of an early settlement at any time since the trouble began.

Another steamer, the Chia Ho, belonging to the China Merchants' joined the strike yesterday. This brings the total number of boats tied up here up by the strike to 21.

Chinese Phonetics

A new publication dealing with phonetics, as applied to the Kuan Hua, recently off the presses of the Oriental Press here, is recommended to serious students of Chinese. The work is the Notions Elementaires de Phonetique et Alphabet General of M. Jos. Mullie.

The publication of such a work at the present time is most opportune, when foreign students of Chinese and Chinese educationalists as well are striving to find some method or other of alphabetic transcription for the spoken Chinese language. Several systems have been proposed, the latest, "Dzu-yin-dze-mu," is patronised by the Chinese Board of Education and taught in the schools of the Government, at least in several provinces. Yet it is a great pity, according to the author, that any of these systems should have been adopted, as all suffer from the same basic defect—identical sounds are figured in different ways, and sounds really different are represented by identical signs. No system should be termed scientific, which does not honor the principle: One sign to every sound; same sign, same sound, and the reverse. The real crux however in the matter comes from the difficulty of properly identifying the different sounds and articulations which make up the spoken language. The author very interestingly proves how very common acoustical illusions are. Therefore anyone approaching the question of how to transcribe scientifically any spoken language, should start with a most careful scrutiny of all the acoustic phenomena pertaining to the same. This is precisely what M. Mullie has endeavored to do for the Kuan-Hua in the work under review. It deserves the careful study of teachers, students, missionaries and all those interested in the study of the Chinese language and it will give them, apart from a very learned and interesting discussion of the whole phonetic question, a most useful instrument for their studies in the shape of a general phonetic alphabet as applied to the Chinese language.

Figures At Hospital Show Increase Of Choleric Diarrhoea

High Percentage Of Fatality Recorded Among Cases

Choleric diarrhoea is on the increase and as high as 18 percent of the victims have succumbed, according to statistics tabulated by the Red Cross Society Hospital for Summer Diseases between July 9 and August 21. The records of the hospital show that of 1,808 cases of the disease, 390 had to undergo the process of transfusion of saline solution into the blood system. Only 82 percent of the patients recovered, as against 85 last year.

Scores of new cases are being admitted daily and the disease appears to be on the increase despite the decline of the thermometer.

A Chinese chauffeur was sentenced to a month's imprisonment yesterday in the Mixed Court by British Assessor Mead and Magistrate Li for negligent driving of his car on North Honan Road, thereby knocking down and injuring a Chinese pedestrian.

Mr. Leo Saphiere, 23 Avenue Edward VII, was fined $5 in the British Police Court on Saturday for reckless driving. Police charged that Mr. Saphiere was responsible for an accident on Nanking Road on August 12 when he so frightened a ricsha coolie that the coolie dashed into the curb and dumped out his passenger, Police Constable Dudley. Police testified that he had driven the car at reckless speed in a dangerous place, and had not stopped to ascertain the extent of the damage done after the accident. Mr. Saphiere denied the charges and declared that the coolie had become unduly frightened at the usual noise made by his car. He also denied driving at reckless speed.

MEIJI BEATS SHANGHAI BY 5-0 SCORE

Watanabe Holds Local Men To Three Useless Bingles

MEIJI-FORT MILLS TODAY

Whole Schedule Set Back One Day By Sunday's Rain

Revised Baseball Schedule

Today, 4:15 pm., Meiji vs. Ft. Mills.
Tomorrow, 4:45 p.m., Shanghai vs. Ft. Mills.
Thursday, 4:15 p.m., Meiji vs. Ft. Mills.
Saturday, 3:30 p.m., Shanghai vs. Meiji.
Sunday, 3:30 p.m., Shanghai vs. Meiji.

Shanghai batsmen were badly beaten yesterday afternoon when they went through their first full game with the Meiji University Nine. Pitcher Watanabe of the collegians held the local hitters absolutely hitless until the eighth inning when a lucky Texas Leaguer by Thatch and a scratch single through the box by Hopkins broke the spell. Scott, first man up in the ninth got Shanghai's only real safety, a drive over second base. The Meiji nine rapped out 15 healthy hits in their nine innings. They scored five runs against Shanghai's zero.

Scott was not on his form yesterday. The Japanese players hit him freely, and not always for safe infield grounders or Texas Leaguers. The Shanghai outfield played too close in for the visitors on at least three occasions. Two triples and a double might have been three easy outs had Hopkins' men held the visiting batsmen in higher regard.

The game however should not be considered as a guage of strength between the two nines. The Meiji nine is a classy bunch of individuals with team work sticking out in every move, yet they do not by any means outclass Gallop's nine. Scott was easy yesterday. Watanabe was working everything and getting away with it, even his outcurve, which he telegraphed in his windup before every fling. Local hitters were off their game. The story of the game is told.

Shanghai got a man to third in the first inning on Tanizawa's bad throw of Bills' grounder to first. Holliday and Hopkins sacrificed him along, but he died when Kingman foul flied out to Inaba. Watanabe walked Kingman in the fourth but the latter was forced out on Scott's grounder to short. Wilhoit got first in the fifth when he was hit on the shoulder but he too was forced at second.

In the seventh Shanghai had a good chance to score, when Watanabe walked three men with two easy outs intervening, but Jack Smith fanned with the bases full and all of European and American Shanghai rooting for him. No other local player reached first besides those already mentioned as having singled.

Meiji scored easily. A dozen little hits and three more big ones, interspersed with some clever sacrificing counted their five runs.

The score follows:

NEW WORLD CASE AGAIN COMES UP IN MIXED COURT

Shareholders Waive Responsibility In Bankruptcy Proceedings

The Hsin Nieh New World Company, which has been figuring in litigation at the Mixed and United States Courts for the past three years, occupied the attention of Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Tsang of the Mixed Court throughout the morning yesterday.

Some little time ago the court ruled that the company was in the nature of a partnership and summonses were ordered to issue for over 300 shareholders on the register. Thus far only about a dozen have appeared to give security and at the hearing yesterday various of these appeared and gave reasons for exemption from responsibility. One claimed to have transferred his shares, but it is alleged that the transfer took place since the trouble began. Another also claimed that he had previously transferred all his shares, but the books showed transfer for only 1,500 shares, while he was credited with holding 2,200.

Other shareholders relied upon a document executed in 1919 transferring full power of attorney and other rights to Mr. Loh, compradore of the American Tobacco Products Company. It was put forward, however, that some time ago, when the shareholders were in litigation with the Tobacco Products Company, the former repudiated this document.

Mr. A. M. Preston represented several shareholders and Mr. J. Schoenfeld others, while Mr. Krisel appeared for one of the creditors, Mr. R. T. Bryan, Jr., represented the Tobacco Products Company and Mr. G. H. Wright appeared on behalf of the landlords.

The case was adjourned without any ruling being given and will probably come up again within a week or so. Meanwhile notices are being inserted in the Chinese press calling for the appearance of shareholders, against whom warrants will otherwise be issued.

COTTON EXPERTS OF UNIVERSITIES MEET AT NANKING

First Convention Held With Many Excellent Speeches

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, Aug. 18.—The National Cotton Experiment Stations Association, promoted by the University of Nanking and Southeastern University, met for the first time in Nanking from August 15 to 17. The association has for its object the unification of all cotton experiment stations for the extension and improvement of the industry.

It has two committees, legislative and executive. The legislative consists of Messrs. Chang Tsu-shun, of the Fourth Cotton Experiment station, chairman; Sun En-ling, vice-chairman (Southeastern University); J. B. Griffing, University of Nanking; Chien Sui-sun, First Cotton Experiment station, and Yie Yuen-ting, representing the Chinese Cotton

In this convention several prominent men were present. Among them may be mentioned Civil Governor Han of Kiangsu and Mr. Chas. Beswick representing the cotton anti-adulteration association and the cotton millowners association of China. They all made excellent speeches. Mr. Han centered his speech around two points: namely the improvement and extension of cotton growing. After congratulating Mr. Griffing upon the success attending his work, Mr. Beswick urged the association to supplement the Chinese Government in the matter of compiling reliable statistics regarding the amount of cotton production throughout China.

Being incidental to the convention a grand exhibition of improved farm implements and improved statistics of cotton together with many colored charts and maps showing the cotton production and the location of cotton districts was held in the university of Nanking. Hundreds of people attended it. This exhibition is certainly a great appeal to the public sentiment as it brought to their notice the actual conditions of cotton production in China and the urgent necessity of its improvement.

Chinese Christians Raising Fund For Famine Sufferers

(China Press Correspondence)

Kuling, August 16.—Chinese Christians at Kuling are doing considerable to raise funds for the famine stricken people of Yuanchow in Hunan province, where thousands are hungry because of the loss of crops and the ravages of bandits.

The funds will go toward helping alleviate conditions among the sufferers. The China Inland Mission there is now feeding upwards of 10,000 hungry people every day and have rescued several hundred orphans.

A financial drive which has raised a fairly good sum was launched by delegates to the Chinese Leaders Conference composed of students and delegates from Christian schools, Shantung Christian College, Shanghai College, the University of Nanking and other evangelistic organisations. A program was given last night, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the fund. At a Chinese prayer meeting one Chinese girl stripped the gold ring from her fingers and gave it to the fund.

Ex-Governor Of Sulu Goes To Jail

(China Press Service)

Manila, Aug. 9.—Paul D. Rogers, former Provincial Treasurer and Governor of Sulu, has been found guilty of estafa and sentenced to two years in jail, according to word received here today from the Jolo Court of First Instance.

Former Governor Rogers was charged with certain financial misappropriations during his term as treasurer, and with overdrawing his account with the Philippine National Bank.

Naval Radio For Press Until 1925

(China Press Service)

Washington, August 20.—The House committee on merchant marine has reported an agreement with the Senate committee extending the naval radio facilities to the press until January 31, 1925 instead of 1927. The House committee is said to have rejected the five year extension on the grounds that there would be ample private facilities before 1927.

Mr. Hughes' Mission

THE Government of the United States is doing well to send as the head of the special mission to represent it at the Brazil centennial exposition its Secretary of State, Charles E. Hughes, comments the New York Herald.

The official position of the Secretary of State is not too high for the performance of the congratulatory and complimentary ceremonials that will fall to the lot of this special mission.

The personal attainments and reputation of Mr. Hughes peculiarly qualify him to express to the Government and people of Brazil the earnest and cordial good will which animates the American people and guides their Government in dealing with Pan-American affairs.

But this is not all. Secretary Hughes, officially as the chief of the diplomatic department of the United States Government and personally as a sensible, intelligent and peace loving American, has just played an important part in bringing to the promise of amicable settlement the generation old dispute between Chile and Peru growing out of the Tacna-Arica problem. This dispute has frequently threatened the peace of South America.

Although the center and cause of the difficulty is on the Pacific side of the continent a war occasioned by it might have involved nations whose interest is not immediately discernible. The man who succeeded in removing an irritant so dangerous in its potentialities has displayed a truly American spirit, and his services to all Americans, wherever they are domiciled, merit the recognition they have received.

It is a great and dignified mission on which the Secretary of State will sail in September, and Brazil will see a Secretary of State of great accomplishments in the person of Charles E. Hughes.

September The Time For Seeding Lawns

Springtime is commonly considered to be seedtime, but with lawns better results often are obtained by seeding at some other season. Except, perhaps, in the northern tier of States and in New England, says the United States Department of Agriculture, early autumn seeding is much more satisfactory than spring seeding. South of the latitude of New York spring seeding should rarely if ever be practiced. There are good reasons for this rule. Young grass does not stool well in spring and summer and is not sufficiently aggressive to combat crabbgrass and other summer annual weeds. In the area south of this and north of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers the time is early in September. The reseeding of an old lawn should be done at the same season as new seeding.

RICSHAS HERE AND IN JAPAN

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir—It would not be out of place, I presumo, to give the public sketch of the Japanese ricshamen of today in Japan—this in view of the local agitation.

In my own country these man-drawn vehicles are called 'zinrikisha,' that is, zin (man)—riki (power)—sha (wheel), instead of 'ricsha,' as they are abbreviated here. There is a variety of opinions as to its originator among us Japanese, two of which seem to be most credible.

A certain Fukuzawa, one of the eminent pioneers of Japan at the beginning of our Meiji Era some fifty years back, is said to have brought home a perambulator from America, which our fathers or rather grandfathers transformed into the shape of the rudimentary ricsha for carrying grown up people instead of babes. On the other hand they insist on the anecdote that a carpenter named Izumi Yosuke invented it.

It was in March 17, 1870, that Izumi Yosuke and two others got their first license for their combined inventions from the Town Hall of Tokio. In order to popularise the novel vehicle only fast-footed ricsha boys were selected. The result was simply marvelous. The speediness of the ricsha was compared to the whirlwind at the first experiment; neither automobiles nor aeroplanes had been constructed at that time.

Two years later the total of the licensed ricshas in Tokio alone was reported to be ten thousand. The success was complete.

In Tokio several guilds are established among those who are engaged in the ricsha trade in the aim of protecting themselves as well as for limiting their particular routes or boundaries. Most of them are owners of their own ricshas while others rent them on a moderate term from richer ricshamen. In some cases the richer ricshamen employ several sub-ricsha boys to co-operate with them. You will never be able to find ricshamen in Tokio loitering about the streets in search of customers as you do here in Shanghai, for they all belong to their own sections called 'kurumatateba' (ricsha stands).

The average income of each ricshaman in Tokio is said to be not less than Yen 100 a month. They live, therefore, a rather independent life and their thrifty housewives manage to save money against the bad day. The ricshamen in Tokio are generally very intelligent and spend their leisure hours in reading books and magazines for self-instruction. Many a chivalrous story has been told of them. In a modern drama a faithful or gallant ricshaman usually takes an important role in sticking to his ill-treated young master or in rescuing a forlorn girl from an imminent danger.

The Chinese ricsha boys here must needs be given better treatment before you will be able to hope to be served by them to your satisfaction. I am, etc.,

H. K. M.

P.S.—I enclose, by way of illustration, a picture of the Prince of Wales in the uniform of our ricshaman, taken on the Renown on his arrival at Plymouth from his visit to Japan.

RELATIVITY

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—It is a trite saying that there is nothing new under the sun. A number of years ago we had one problem of relativity which aroused great discussion, viz: Would a bullet shot from a rifle with a muzzle velocity of 1,000 feet per second, fired from the rear of the train to the front end, the train traveling 1,000 feet per second, would such bullet remain suspended at the muzzle of the rifle until its initial velocity had been overcome? Relatively, Yes!

You look at a man 100 yards away on the street, is your line of vision straight? No. The earth is curved!

As for the diagram of the bullet and the armored car, anyone with experience of firearms can see that it is all poppycock and is an unfortunate comparison, in that it is a beautiful theory, but disproves itself as a material fact, and puts relativity into the class of the "big fish" vacation stories.

Perhaps the twelve great minds are jealous. How came this man to grab such a fine publicity stunt. No one can disprove his stories as long as he leaves bullets and armored cars alone. More power to him and H. G. Wells.

Say who started me on this trail of scepticism this hot morning? How did "Westa" let Einstein get ahead of him?

Nosuch Fish.

MR. BLAND'S LETTER TO THE LONDON TIMES

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—Mr. Bland's letter in the London Times (according to Reuter's wire) seems to confirm the Chinese view of him as an incorrigible Sinophobe. In the press and in his books he has pursued China relentlessly since his memorable failure, twelve years ago, to secure the Hukuang Railway Concession which led to his resignation as Peking representative of the British and Chinese Corporation. In the Times report of the annual meeting of the Corporation in 1910, you can read his astonishing speech calling for the liquidation of the Corporation on the ground that China is an unprofitable field for British capital and enterprise. And in hardly any scrap of his writing since then, will you find a single generous or appreciative word of a people trying to readjust their old life to a new environment arising out of China's inevitable inclusion in a world-system which is, politically and economically, ruled by ideas historically strange to the Chinese mind.

Even the high appeal of charity is resisted by Mr. Bland. When millions of Chinese were starving in 1920 because the rains did not fall, he wrote a special article in the London Observer opposing British relief and arguing in effect that Chinese procreativeness must be combated by famine and death. It is in this setting that all Mr. Bland's critical meditations on China must be read.

The main limb of his present contention may be easily dissected into an obvious truism and a gross fallacy. None will assert that British education can change a Chinese mind into an English mind. That indeed would be a horrible thing. But it is palpably false to suggest, as Mr. Bland does, that a British-educated Chinese is incapable of practising in China the best that he has learnt. It is not denied that conditions still exist in China rendering it difficult for foreign-educated Chinese freely to apply in their country the aptest of what has been taught them abroad in, for instance, the fundamentals of politics and economics. But this is an historical accident and not defect of character peculiar to the Chinese. It is a problem of technique that has confronted every people who have had to work out the readjustment of their life under alien impulse and pressure.

The rest of Mr. Bland's letter is less intelligent in sense than provocative. It is foolish to say, as he does, that the education of China's intelligentsia abroad only serves to increase confusion and unrest at home. Let me deal with this by the method of quotation. "Consider China," I wrote recently to a British editor in the South on the same subject. "Alone as well as with other conquerors of Asia, your country has beaten and packed on China a series of blows and humiliations which have forced her to search for strength in a new order of ideas and a new technique. This has put her into disarray and disorder. And there she will lie till, through the creative agency of education, a new generation of workers arise to deliver her from the Slough of Despond....." And in a further letter I emphasised the same point thus: "She (China) too is in a real life or death struggle brought about by the break-up of the old Confucian state-system under Western hammering and influence. The struggle will go on until a new generation of rulers and workers are in control. To be fit some of these new rulers and workers must be educated in the schools and factories of Greater Europe. That is why China is seeking British co-operation in the education of her youth."

At the end of his letter, Mr. Bland indulges in a characteristic outburst against the "Cantonese section of Young China." Of course no deliverance by this man is complete which omits to perorate on this note of hate. He never forgets that Mr. Tang Shao-yi once disciplined him for bad manners. I am etc.,

EUGENE CHEN.

What More Do You Want?

BY DR. CH. FLEISCHER

What more do you want, what better pay could you have for thought, word or effort, than the satisfaction of touching another life and making it a bit better for that contact?

Some months ago the writer presented an article on the Joy of Work, which was in part a protest against a certain professor's statement that anyone who pretended to find joy in work is an ass.

That reached the eye and the heart of a locomotive engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad. He sent in such a classic rhapsody on the subject as to make his letter the shining jewel for the setting of a subsequent article on the relative wisdom of the professor and the engineer.

Then followed a protracted silence, broken recently by the arrival of another letter in response to a recent article.

Thought the writer: "How far that little candle throws his beams!"

And again the letter was so fine in style and so beautiful in spirit that it carries a story and an influence which should be shared at least in part with readers of these articles.

He says: "You ask, 'How do you get your thrills when you want one?' I'll tell you how I used to get mine. I am a driver of locomotives, which in itself is quite exciting at times. But riding seventy miles an hour becomes quite dull in time, so that it no longer gives the thrill.

"I used to speed at night quite frequently at speeds you never would believe an engine could travel. When rounding curves and the engine straightened out and I was still alive, I used to think I had beaten Fate.

"And that was how I used to get my thrills.

"That was before I started to read your articles and somehow I soon became aware that the thrills I was so fond of were not the real thrills of life. Only then did I discover that the real thrills come from a brain that is able to assimilate the beauty of nature, the wonder of the heavens, and the magnitude of the sea.

"My greatest thrill, dear doctor, was not a giant locomotive rushing ninety miles an hour through the starry night, but a little letter received from you some months ago. So I agreed with you that life, the mere living, is endlessly exciting if you are really alive to its meanings and its possibilities."

A thousand-dollar bill, to talk in modern terms, could not have brought to the present writer the delicious thrill, the deep down heat-tickle, caused by the sincere tribute of the engineer.

Oh, yes! partly this is mere vanity. But mainly it is that subtlest of human joys born of the satisfaction of having touched another soul—with good.

Invest Yourself in that fashion seizing every chance. You will be delighted with your dividends.

Soviet Asks Loan Of $1,600,000,000

BY EDWIN L. JAMES

The Hague, June 30.—The Hague Russian conference hit the same sort of rock today that wrecked the Genoa Russian conference—the Soviet demand for credits. Only it was a larger rock. At Genoa Tchitcherin demanded $1,000,000,000 credit, and the conference failed when Europe's Premiers told him it was impossible. Today Litvinoff asked for credits totaling $1,600,000,000 as a condition for Moscow's recognising Russia's obligations—with a moratorium.

This demand has nothing to do with the plan for trading credits worked out at Genoa. That was a plan for governmental assistance to nationals who seek to do business in Russia. Litvinoff's demand is for credits for the Soviet Government direct. And after Lloyd George told the Russians at Genoa it was utterly impossible to get them a billion-dollar loan in Europe, they come back to The Hague and raise the amount by 60 percent, and have the nerve to announce it represents only the beginning.

One of the items asked for is $100,000,000 cash to be used as a gold basis for an issue of new currency in Russia. This demand comes from the folks who twenty months ago announced above the hum of their printing presses they were going to ruin the capitalistic scheme of money by issuing so much it would be worthless. Now, while proclaiming they hold to their principles and, as Litvinoff said yesterday, acting only from motives of expediency, they ask for cash from the capitalistic countries they were going to ruin to start a new issue of paper money. And they do it without cracking a smile.

RUSSIA'S NEEDS

When Litvinoff announced on Tuesday that the Russians would do nothing about debts or private property until they got credits he was asked to state how much he wanted and for what. Today he gave the Credits Commission his reply. He announced he wanted credits in foreign currencies and loans up to 3,224,000,000 gold rubles or, calculating the rule at 50 cents, $1,612,000,000.

His plan is divided into four categories; first, transport, 1,050,000,000 gold rubles; second, agriculture, 924,000,000 gold rubles; third, industries, 750,000,000 gold rubles, and fourth, miscellaneous, divided into commercial credits, 300,000,000 gold rubles and bank credits 200,000,000.

Litvinoff then advanced the argument Rakowsky used once a day at Genoa, namely that allied intervention had cost Russia 50,000,000,000 gold rubles, ostensibly for the purpose of showing the Russians were letting the Allies off easy. To show further whose fault it all was Litvinoff said Russia's wealth before the war was 150,000,000,000 gold rubles with an income of 12,000,000,000 to 15,000,000,000. The European war and intervention had cut to a fraction of that.

Then he explained Russian reconstruction could not be undertaken piecemeal, but on the basis he had outlined. He quoted Lloyd George on the interdependence of nations and said Europe ought to hurry to restore Russia, which could only be done by giving the Soviets the credits asked for.

Litvinoff said his figures showed the Soviets' minimum need. Moscow did not ask for all at once. The Soviets thought credits and loans to the total indicated might be spread over three years, although more than one-third might be needed the first year. What he had asked for represented only the credits the Soviets needed in foreign currencies and was only a percentage of the total the Russian Government would have to spend.

Then he gave his ideas on what would be the results for Russian production. Pointing to the oil industry, he said the Soviets were ready to give out large leases, the operators of which would supply the capital.

The Russian Chairman then emphasised the difference between these credits for the Russian State and credits for private enterprises. What he asked for was for Moscow's use alone.

FRENCH REPLY

M. Chevilly for the French said he had been interested by Litvinoff's figures but thought them a theoretic index of volume rather than the volume itself. He suggested that Litvinoff put his suggestions and remarks into written form, to be "digested at leisure."

M. Wittmer of Belgium regarded Litvinoff's figures as fantastic and translated them into paper money figures.

He then said Russians musn't think Europe depended too much on their country. He pointed out that before the war Belgium's foreign trade was greater than Russia's. Then he reviewed Belgian industry in Russia before the Soviets took hold and expressed grief that those industries had fallen so low as Litvinoff revealed today. He didn't think Litvinoff would find his 3,000,000,000 gold rubles and advised him to come down to earth.

Something To Think About

BY FABIO DEAN

"Touchin' on and appertainin' to" the ruling passion which is so strong in death.

Gangs of bandits and insurgents in the hills of County Wicklow in Ireland, including Irish fountain girls, have been making night raids on the villages in the valley. The millinery shops were especially singled out for looting by the lady members of the band.

A great step toward the accomplishment of the feminist dream—the equality of the sexes. The gentlemen raid the grog shops, hardware stores and haberdasheries. The ladies loot millinery shops, dressmakers' establishments and corset factories—that is, if corsets are in style.

This equal division of labor will help to systematise guerilla warfare, will advance the feminine cause and will tend to prove that the ruling passion is sometimes as strong in life as it is in death.

The ladies! Bless their dear hearts! They love, love and they love hats.

A really pretty and becoming hat does make a girl prettier in the eyes of the stupid male. And as Nature has ordained that the catching or ensnaring or beguiling or conquering—the real word is "landing"—of the stupid male is her prime instinct, who may blame her for putting on the hat that makes her most attractive? Not me, answers Echo.

Revolutions and rebellions and wars of all kinds are diseases of the body politic which, hitherto, have only affected the men folk actively, the woman's part in them having been that of passive suffering.

If this is to be changed and the fashion grows for women to take part in raids and slaughter, I wonder that they select a line of procedure in harmony with their own instinct. Who shall predict that they make a beeline for the hat shops, that they despoil the conquered female adversary of her diamonds and her wrist-watch and her sables and her "flivver?" Not me, again answers Echo.

Because, gentle reader, out of 70,000,000 women, 69,999,999 would rather look well, attract a good-looking male, get married and have a nice home than be a Joan of Arc.

So don't be cross with these marauding Irish girls. And above all, Isabel, don't laugh at them. Of course it was wrong for them to maraud, but if you had been along with them and had realised that they were bound to maraud and that you were compelled to maraud along with them, would you have broken into a plumber's store or would you have ransacked one of those millinery places—nice, little, blue hat in the window—sort of Jack o' Shanter effect—cute little cock feather? Why, of course.

And Echo answers, "Sure!"

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEITZ, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an effective and speedy remedy."
A. F. PEELER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your 'Castoria' and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a safe and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household panacea for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

"THE SECRET OF SUCCESS"

Many people are looking for it in vain. In the Aerated Water business, it is easy to find, and may be expressed in one word "QUALITY." If the quality is not right, all your other efforts are wasted. For that reason we buy everything used in the preparation of our Aerated Waters of the best quality only, and we invite an inspection of our books to prove it.
Another point with us, of equal importance, is that everything in connection with the preparation of our Aerated Waters is

"ABOVE BOARD"

We do not want to shut ourselves in within a high wall while working, and we have no secrets. If you care to visit our factory at any time, we shall be pleased to show and explain everything to you. It will surprise you to see the infinite care taken to ensure the purity of our Waters.
Support the officers of the Health Dept. by seeing for yourself as well.

OVOMALTINE

A cocoa flavoured concentration of
Pure Malt-Extract, Fresh Eggs, Full-Cream Swiss Milk
A scientific preparation and perfectly balanced combination of which are indispensable to perfect health, in fact, to maintain life. They are contained in most foods, but their life-giving power is always reduced to a minimum, if not wholly destroyed in the process of cooking.
Proteids, Fats, Carbohydrates & Vitamines A. B. C.

After years of scientific research, Dr. A. Wander of Berne (Switzerland) succeeded in establishing a method by which, in the manufacture of "OVOMALTINE" these vital elements are preserved in their original form. In the full significance of the word.

Ovomaltine Is A Pure Complete Food
It contains no chemicals or drugs
It is easily prepared—no cooking

OVOMALTINE { Builds Up Brain, Nerve and Body / Promotes Physical Vigour, and Mental Power / Assists Nature's Resistance to Disease

It is its high quality that has made Ovomaltine famous all over the world

League May Send Health Envoys Here

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, August 19.—The Health Committee of the League of Nations has decided to recommend the despatch of a commission to the Far East to investigate the question of the frequency of epidemics, particularly those constituting an international danger.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

August 21, 1922

Spot and Forward Bar Silver were each unchanged in London Saturday. The New York price declined to 69½ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 447⅜. The only change in our Official rates here today was a rise in the Franc rate to 960.

Our market here was on the easy side throughout the morning, business being done at rates much lower than those prevailing on Saturday. Sterling was done as low as 3-5⅝ for August-September deliveries and Gold Dollars at 77⅜. However even when the market was easiest there were good sellers at these rates.

Some business was done at 3-5 7-16 in Sterling and 77½ in Gold Dollars and in fact as nigh as 3-5½ and 77⅝ were done.

However later in the afternoon speculators became buyers and rates eased off rapidly until at the close there were no sellers of Sterling better than 3s. 5⅛d. and of Gold Dollars 77⅛.

There were very few bills offering today, banks were quoting 3s. 6⅛d. for Sterling Bills, 78⅜ for Gold Dollar Bills and 1,000 for Franc Bills.

India sold a small amount of silver in London Saturday and there was bear covering. The market closed steady. The New York market is steadier, there being buyers on Saturday at the Official quotation and no sellers.

Are You Going on a Journey?
Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy should be packed in your hand luggage when going on a journey. Change of water, diet and temperature all tend to produce bowel trouble, and this medicine cannot be secured on board the train or steamship. It may save much suffering and inconvenience if you have it handy.
Sold everywhere.
